

BREADFRUIT AGROFORESTRY

Regenerating abundant, resilient, and profitable landscapes

TWO WORKSHOPS ON KAUAI

Friday, February 9 and Saturday, February 10, 2018

8:30 am – 4:00 pm

Harrison Chandler Education Center, National Tropical Botanical Garden
• Kalāheo, Kauaʻi •

*Space is limited. Advance registration required.
$35 per person
(Lunch included)*

*Registration and info
Breadfruit.info*

Interested in growing breadfruit together with other crops for local consumption and sales? This one-day workshop (offered twice on consecutive days) is for growers, processors, sellers, chefs/restaurateurs, consumers, educators, policymakers, and others interested in regenerating breadfruit.

TOPICS AND PRESENTERS

Working with breadfruit varieties—Dr. Diane Ragone, Breadfruit Institute, NTBG

Regenerative agroforestry with breadfruit—Craig Elevitch, Agroforestry Net & Hoʻoulu ka ʻUlu

Breadfruit tree planting, care, and pruning—Heidi Bornhorst, Pruning for Productivity

Companion crops—Paul Massey, Regenerations International Botanical Garden

Establishment and management—Noel Dickinson, Breadfruit Institute, NTBG

Nutrition and value-added products—Carmen Nochera, Grand Valley State University, MI

Registration and information: www.breadfruit.info or call 415-766-9662

Co-sponsored by Patagonia Provisions® and the State of Hawaii Department of Agriculture

Presented by the Breadfruit Institute, National Tropical Botanical Garden, and Agroforestry Net

